Weekend Discussion Questions
March 28-29, 2009

Community:

1. Do you have a favorite energy drink? Have you ever tried one that you didn't like?
2. How many Bibles do you have? How many different kinds?

Core:

1. Scott said many of us are "running on empty" spiritually? What does that mean?
2. Have you ever found yourself using church as a quick hit of spiritual energy to get you through the week?
3. What has been your past experience with reading the Bible?
4. What roadblocks are there to reading the Bible in your life?
5. What value do you see in reading the Bible?
6. Read Matthew 4:2-4. How can the word of God fuel us?
7. What intentional things can you do to incorporate a steady diet of the Word of God into your life?
8. Read Psalm 19:14. What are the words of your mouth and the meditations of your heart? Could the answer to that question (for good or for bad) be directly related to how little or how much time you are spending reading the word of God?
9. Read James 1:22-27. What should the Word of God fuel us for?
10. Read Hebrews 4:12. What about this verse scares you?
11. Read 2 Timothy 3:16-17. Why is the "so that" part of this verse so important?

Challenge:

1. Go to the blog each day for the Bible reading challenge. (flatironschurch.com/blog)
2. Go to Bible 101 for more info on how to study the Bible. (flatironschurch.com/workshops/#bible101)
3. Go to flatironslist to start or join a Bible study. (flatironschurch.com/flatironslist)
